AI-powered ETF and Cryptocurrency Platform

ETF Pool, the new generation Artificial Intelligence software focused on exchange-traded funds, providing capital growth through managed exposure to various stocks, bonds, and cryptocurrency futures contracts using blockchain technology.

ETF Pool brings exchange-traded funds, cryptocurrencies, and artificial intelligence together to create a new AI fabric that delivers superior practical AI functionality while moving toward the fulfillment of global artificial intelligence visions.

We focus on the creation of intelligent machines that work and react like humans. Our fund managers can adapt our AI through machine learning to changing market conditions for profitability long term.

The unification of Artificial Intelligence and ETFs potentially stands to benefit all from increased adoption and utilization of our unique artificial intelligence software including those involved in automation, machine learning, natural language processing, and autonomous vehicles.

Our investments are aimed at giving investors indirect exposure, rather than investing directly in a specific asset class. For new investors looking to explore cryptocurrencies, stocks, commodities, and bonds, the barriers to entry can be daunting

The technical know-how required isn't for everyone. A way around this is via our simplified artificial intelligence-powered exchange traded funds platform, which tracks and generates yield across various digital assets. These crafted ETF tools can potentially provide greater returns.

As new-generation technologists, we have a moral obligation to build technologies that serve our global community of investors and prepare for future challenges through human-centric solutions.

Our investors have the opportunity to gain benchmark-beating returns and exposure to cryptocurrency, stocks, commodities, and bond returns in a safe, convenient, liquid, and transparent way.

HOW IT WORKS

Automation and AI are often feared as an imminent replacement for humans in multiple sectors, finance included. And, while there are areas where specific roles could become redundant in the future, more often than not, AI applications can be used to create an enormous, positive impact on the finance industry, helping humans, rather than replacing them.

At our core, we perform essential functions such as facilitating trustless and automated transactions, publishing new AI services on the blockchain, and defining model pricing strategies. Our platform offers a rich user interface that allows users to easily find, assess, and benefit immensely from the services available.

Our AI is trained to find patterns across huge data sets. From those patterns, we can identify opportunities to improve order execution and trade outcomes, operate more efficiently, and develop new products and services. This algorithmic trading technology minimizes transaction costs and human errors involved in trading.

Trained AI Models

AI training allows us to train and customize models for ETF Pool services in the way you specifically need for your growth.

Multiple Pricing Options

Choose from our different ETF Pool options based on your financial tolerance. You can easily buy in with BTC, ETH, or Stablecoin options.

WHY? ETF POOL

You don't need a lot of money to start investing in our ETF Pool packs

ETFs are a way to invest small amounts of money into multiple companies or other assets.

to reduce risk

As your investment in an ETF is spread across a number of shares or other assets, it is considered less risky as you are not reliant on the growth of a single company or asset.

Lower Costs

The management fees for index-based ETFs are usually less than investing in the same exposure of individually purchased companies.
